

Matot, Inc. Corporate Backgrounder

Our Timeline

1888

Matot, Inc. founded by master carpenter Duffy Adolph Matot on Chicago's north side

1937

Edward J. Matot takes over the management of Matot, Inc.

1952

The company unveils modern version of electric dumbwaiters

1954: Third Generation

Edward J. Matot II begins working full-time for Matot, Inc.

1976-1996

Kathryn "Kitty" Matot, wife of Edward J. Matot II works at the company

1985

Matot, Inc. begins manufacture of residential elevators and in 2001, enters into manufacturing alliance with American Crescent

1986

Cathryn "Cece" Matot, current owner and co-president, becomes a part of the family's business

1988

Current owner and co-president Anne Matot begins her Matot, Inc. tenure

2008

Matot, Inc. merges with Atlas Elevator Company, uniting two leading producers of commercial dumbwaiters

Our History and Vision

Matot, Inc. evolved from its humble 1888 start as a small company focused on providing refrigeration equipment and hand-powered dumbwaiters to the many taverns lining Chicago's bustling north side.

In the 120 years since Duffy Matot first began and inspired the legacy, Matot, Inc. has kept pace with the changing times and is now the primary commercial dumbwaiter manufacturer in the U.S.

What has not changed throughout its storied history is the family-owned and operated business model; collaborative, customized approach to its customers' needs; and commitment to offering the highest quality commercial grade lift solutions to a variety of industries.

As co-president Cece Matot points out, "In our 120 years, we have seen it all," and today's Matot, Inc. teams of sales, manufacturing and customer service professionals ensure that materials are moved the right way, safely and efficiently.

The company's longevity and record of accomplishment speak for itself and Matot, Inc. is proud of its deep family roots and generations of satisfied customers.

Whether creating commercial grade lift solutions for commercial, healthcare, industrial or residential environments, the philosophy remains the same.

It's a family tradition and commitment.

Quality: Matot backs each commercial grade lift solution with a team of engineers, customer service personnel and qualified regional distribution representatives.

Dependability: Matot takes moving solutions to a new level with highest quality components and designs that address customers' unique needs in a timely manner.

Distribution: With a worldwide network of distribution partners who share Matot's customer approach and dedication to installation excellence, the company responds quickly to customer needs.

For more information on Matot or its commercial grade lift solutions, visit the company's Web site at www.Matot.com or call 1-800-369-1070